To Whom It May Concern

Words cannot express the impact I feel Ken Freeman had today on our students. He has the unique ability to engage any audience. Today he had 700 seventh and eighth graders in trawled for an hour. This is not an easy feat and he did it flawlessly. His message was perfect for our students, at this age choices truly start impacting a child's life and future. In education we tend to focus on the academic and at times forget about the emotional component of our students. I believe that to truly impact a student you must reach them emotionally, and today Ken did that. His voice is desperately needed in every school across the country. The impact that he made on me and the students here will not be forgotten.

You have a gift and a message that needs to be heard by all. Thank you for inspiring me, our teachers and most importantly our students.

Sincerely,
